

Coffee Plantation, Guatemala

Introduction

Koffee Kart began as a whim of Kevin Kariuki's in 1985. After spending years studying the art of coffee cultivation in his native Nairobi, Kenya, Kevin was struck by the limitations of brick-and-mortar cafes and restaurants here in San Francisco. Why not bring the coffee to the people, where the people want it, in the most eco-friendly way possible? Strap an espresso machine on a three-wheeled rickshaw and you're most of the way there. Add the finest original roasts from Africa, Central America and the Pacific and you've found the Koffee Kart of San Francisco.

Contact Us

Have a special event coming up soon? The beauty of the Koffee Kart is that we can come to your event! Just let us know what you're interested by completing this event form and someone from the Koffee Kart staff will contact you soon.

Drying Hut

Coffee Plantation

Coffee Varieties

Tasting Room

TASTING NOTES

Three Speed Blend

Three Speed Blend is a coffee developed specifically for the Koffee Kart Coffee near Nekempt, Ethiopia in true semi-forest conditions. A farm created from the ground up for special coffee production, forest canopy is unbroken throughout, and coffee is integrated into the natural landscape. Altitudes are an incredible 2000-2200 meters. The two Anyetsu varieties produce very clean berry and floral notes with natural processing, and Geisha-like citrus and floral in washed processing.

Morning Commute

A versatile coffee, full bodied and smooth whether brewed as espresso or drip. This French roast brings together multiple origins (and producers) that have been very important to Koffee Kart's growth and continued suc

Cruiser Espresso

An exceptional coffee from the Hartmann family farm in Volcan, Panama, where currently 3 generations are represented. This is the fifth year that the Koffee Kart has been purchasing coffee directly from the Hartmanns – including the third for the honey processed version. Improvements in processing and shipping have made this version (debatably) the best yet. This is a limited offering so please enjoy it while supplies last!

